

Chloe Miller was walking home from school in late fall of 1932. She became aware of an approaching vehicle. All at once there was pain like she had never known.

Chloe died, and that is when her real torment began. Trapped in a house with a being of pure hate, a demon, and young man who wants to help her.

The hunt for her killer leads Chloe and her new friends to find out the mysteries behind the house where she is trapped and murders that followed thing that dwelled upstairs.
